

Australia-China Forum on Trade and Labour Market: Gender Balance

14-15 February 2019, Adelaide, Australia

Call for Papers

We cordially invite you to submit research papers and case studies addressing the implications of trade and FDI on the labour market for presentation in this conference. With financial support from the Australia China Council, Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, this conference provides a forum for researchers and practitioners to discuss the implications of trade and FDI on labour markets in Australia and China—two close trade partners in the Asia-Pacific area. With the aim of opening a dialogue on how different groups are affected in the labour market, the forum will allow stakeholders to exchange ideas and demonstrate how to ride the waves of globalisation to promote labour force diversity and participation, while being cautious of the negative impact of international trade and cross-border investment on local workforce.

Call for Paper

Themes

Submission

Registration

Both research papers and case studies are accepted for presentation in this conference. We look for full papers, but work in progress is also welcome. Please email your submission to CMR-Research@unisa.edu.au by November 30, 2018, and indicate which theme your presentation aligns with.

Important Dates:

Abstract Submission deadline:	14 October 2018
Paper submission deadline:	30 November 2018
Notification of Acceptance:	5 January 2018
Early Bird Registration:	15 January 2019

Organiser: Centre for Applied Finance and Economics, School of Commerce, UniSA Business School, UniSA

Partner: Research Centre for Labour Market, Business School, Beijing Normal University

Sponsor: Australia China Council, Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Australia

Australian Government

Australia-
China
Council